Folklore

Aphrodite, the Greek goddess of beauty and wisdom, rose from the sea for a reason, for it is here that all life began. And no wonder: the sea contains all the elements needed to sustain life. From minerals to vitamins to the amino acids that become protein to form your hair and skin, the sea is an abundant provider. We have duplicated the sea's nutrients in our Marine Minerals Complex, a rich compound of minerals similar to those found in the seas of our planet.

Also residing in the sea are over 10,000 species of seaweed concentrating these life-sustaining elements into each leaf and bulb of their graceful stalks. Ancient Greeks laid seaweed over cuts and bruises and wrapped their hair in giant leaves to revive lustrous shine. Native Americans on the shores of Washington, Oregon and California cocooned themselves in layers of seaweed for the deep moisturizing relief it delivered from the drying winds. In spas throughout Europe and the United States, wraps of seaweed are reported to help stimulate circulation and deplete impurities below the skin. At Garden Botanika, we harvest the riches of the sea for our Immerse line of pampering products to replenish minerals and moisture vital to healthy skin.
