Happy New Year to You!

We hope you enjoyed your holidays!

We also wish to thank all those wonderful kids who celebrated their birthday in December...a very special Happy Birthday and thank you to: Nicholas, Carli and Brittany, Cole, Melissa S., Talia, Jared, Bella, Justine, Nicole, Lauren, Melissa C., Ellen, Jenny, Nina, Anastasia, and Victoria. And Happy Birthday to the unscheduled walk-in groups who celebrated their birthdays at Art n'Play.

Art vs. Crafts

Inspiring and developing creativity is our goal...

Art is creating from the heart. At Art n'Play, we provide children and adults with tools and inspiration — actively engaging the creative process. Art is a process, not of perfection, but of molding materials to create a personal vision. We encourage this process by providing blank surfaces, such as plates, cups, and platters. Also, our art workshops for children focus on this creative process while building motor skills. To ensure that each child's unique artistic vision is preserved, the workshops use high-quality acid-free paper utilizing quality paints, glues and other art mediums. We love working with these little Picassos who create from their heart starting as early as 18 months.

Conversely, crafts are pre-made art pieces or shapes that primarily focus on motor skills and process, with a more pre-determined vision of the end result. At Art n'Play, our imagination center art table provides a variety of craft- and art-related materials, such as pre-cut construction paper for gluing and pasting, as well as white paper for painting.

Inspiring Children in 2004

Upcoming Events: What's New in January
