

About >

What We Do

We understand the link between academic achievement and social and emotional competency. That's why our programs give children an education that allows them to find their place in the world, which leads to success in life.

Committee for Children, a nonprofit organization, is a leader in social and emotional learning and violence prevention. Our award-winning programs and prevention curricula focus on the topics of youth violence, bullying, child abuse, and personal safety. Each year our programs reach millions of children and educators throughout the world.

Partnering with experts at leading universities since the 1970s, Committee for Children continues to explore the social and emotional development of children in the academic, home, and community environments. The result is programs that focus on the essential social competencies of empathy, impulse control and problem solving, and anger management. And, based on extensive research, each program takes a unique approach.

Committee for Children also authors timely articles and reviews of children's literature, provides assessment tools for schools and agencies, and provides training and ongoing support to educators and parents.

We encourage you to explore our site and learn how you can promote the safety, well-being, and social development of children.

About | Programs | Resources
Committee for Children | Education for Prevention | Social Emotional Learning writing by

Explore Our Site

- Our History
- International News
- Articles
- Bullying Prevention
- Child Abuse Prevention
- Youth Violence Prevention

Help Prevent Violence in Your Child's School

Sponsor a program!